Comments

“ I had the pleasure of being a caregiver to Ms. Alma. On her last day at the facility where I work as I was cleaning her room she called me over to her and told me to kneel down at her feet. I did just that. She laid her hands on my head and began to pray. All I could do was weep because I know she was moving to another facility soon. I don't know if she understood that she was moving. She took my face into her hands and said I love you and just know God got you. I really got upset because she was my prayer partner and God was moving her away. But she gave me what I needed to stand in this place. Thank you Ms Alma I love you too..A beautiful blessing in my life. I know you are being celebrated. And God says to you..Well done ..
